

Gumdrop stars are very easy to make and the only problem will be to keep the children from eating up the materials. The stars are nice to hang from the tree, or an archway, or perhaps from a lighting fixture in the kitchen or dinette: a colorful, and tasty, Christmas motif. To make, stick one end of a colored toothpick into a small gumdrop, the other into a Styrofoam ball. Use about 20 such gumdrops-on-toothpicks, spaced haphazardly around the ball.
